PEACE OF MIND

Mastermelt Alloy is a full engine processor operating an 'in-house' Closed Loop Cycle, which means that you will not lose value through middle men handling and all of your material is secure.

By recovering the platinum from the component coating together with the value of the alloy, the total value can increase by as much as 80%.

This added value is hugely important but the real value is your peace of mind. Knowing that 100% of your material is going to be processed and never resold, removes the risk of un-serviceable parts entering the aftermarket.

The processed material is then sent directly to melt-shops for revert, which completes our Closed Loop Cycle.

Sleep better knowing that Mastermelt Alloy is trusted, reliable and financially stable.

CLOSED LOOP CYCLE

NOW PROCESSING IN EUROPE!

Building on the huge success of our Tennessee plant, Mastermelt Alloy is excited to announce the opening of our European processing facility for the treatment of total 'end of life' jet engine material.

With over 40 years of expertise in the processing of jet engines, we are a one-stop shop, which enables us to deliver consistently higher returns.

Our intention is to provide you with a local service, wherever you are across the globe, but in light of recent European (Brexit) developments, for a time, the transfer of goods and services across borders may be made more difficult, which is why Mastermelt Alloy will continue to expand its locations to accommodate your needs.
